FLAG IS TOPIC OF TALK HERE

Cleveland Man Addresses Bible Federation; Prospect Chorus Sings

The Men's Religious Federation of Cleveland held its annual convention at the Hotel Hamilton yesterday afternoon. Rev. Joseph L. Garvin of Cleveland spoke on "The Flag of the American People." Rev. Garvin gave a history of the flag's composition and the ideals for which it stands. "Every individual American is a flag-maker," he said. "His man or woman made the American flag. It is your flag and my flag."

He spoke of the vital relationship which every American has with his flag, and emphasized that the highest patriotism that can be expressed is through the right of franchise. He said: "The American flag will remain in its present form. There will be no more stars placed upon its field of blue because no territory except the United States can become a state." He closed his address with the poem, "Our Flag."

Nothing Venture

by Patricia Wentworth

(Copyright, 1932, Lippincott)

After eighteen hours of waiting, she pushed back her hair and looked at her wrist. She was up in bed in the dark, and she knew what it was. She had not known where she was—in what room, in what place.

She pulled up a pillow behind her back and watched the moonlight run across the floor like a wave flung up by the tide. Like a wave it ran back again. She could see all the furniture now, mysteriously soft and large. A pleasant drowsiness began to steal over her. She thought back to the evening before. She had taken her over the house. She had made great friends with Mrs. Bran. She wished friends were so easy to make.

A drowsy warmth flowed over her; she slipped a little further down in the bed. She was slipping down into soft flowing waters of sleep, when all of a sudden they came away and she was awake again, her heart beating and her eyes staring into the darkness.

It wasn't the flapping of the curtain that had waked her before, and it wasn't the flapping of the curtain that had waked her now. It was a sound—not in the room—somewhere else. Now that she heard it, she could remember that she had heard it before. The memory was like an echo just caught on the edge of sound. She did not yet know what it was that she had heard. And then, as she listened, it came again—a faint whining noise, followed by what sounded like a footstep. It was so faint that it pushed her to guess why it should have roused her from sleep.

She threw back the bed-clothes and sat on the edge of the bed.

State Housing Act.
Governor White has given no reason why he will or will not recommend to the forthcoming special session of the general assembly enactment of a state housing law. Such action is necessary to permit formation of limited dividend corporations meeting specifications of the law which is the foundation of the Reconstruction Finance Corp.

A housing program, to receive its original stimulus from Reconstruction Finance Corp. funds, is one of the points in the President's recovery plans. It is mentioned as a means of providing employment, in its first effect. The subsequent effect, of course, would be to improve living conditions among the lower classes, which is one of Mr. Hoover's pet ambitions.

There is no apparent reason why the governor should not recommend a state housing act to the legislature. If the principles and purposes of the Reconstruction Finance Corp. have enlisted confidence, that portion of the corporation's funds available for housing improvement in Ohio may as well be used.

College, As Usual.
There is, in reports from various colleges and universities that they expect no important decrease in enrollment this year, confirmation of the popular belief that widespread unemployment stimulates education. Even if college enrollment were to drop 10 per cent this year compared with last year, the same reasoning could be used; it could be assumed that, without increases in enrollment due to inability of potential students to find jobs, the visible decrease would be much greater.

Support for this explanation of the unemployment factor is to be had in enrollment figures for public schools. Pupils who have passed the compulsory attendance age naturally continue their studies when they know it is impossible for them to get jobs. It is logical to believe that, in cases where students will permit it, they are more likely to go to college.
There are, of course, a great many instances where the possibility of further education has been destroyed by financial difficulty of no serious nature as to leave no funds for education. Such cases are responsible for whatever enrollment decrease may be reported.

An effect of the depression which might be expected to make it more difficult to sell the idea of a college education to students is the discouraging prejudice in which the college graduate finds himself. With a considerable investment in training to make good, he finds himself begging for any kind of a job on the same terms as the head of his competitors. Many who have extended their education by taking advanced degrees find themselves frustrated with little but their own satisfaction.

Cruelly, painfully and expensively, Americans are being forced to accept education less and less as an investment in dollars and cents and more and more as an investment in personal happiness. In the pre-scent condition of employment, as a matter of fact, it can be supported only with the latter argument.

A New Bill of Rights.
Bernard M. Baruch, one of the few enshrined big businessmen who have not lost the place by overt folly or repeated, contributes to the current issue of Nation's Magazine a valuable article under the somewhat startling title, "Federal Taxes Can Be Cut a Billion."

It is not so much Mr. Baruch's description of how the thing may be done as it is his firm conviction that it should be done that backs his opinion so somewhat above the ordinary. He is an attempt, in the process of his reasoning, of a new attitude among taxpayers—more specifically, tax-paying thinkers.

The attitude is, largely, the direct result of realizing that when all is said and done there is government by the people in the United States and that his mistakes as well as his accomplishments are the result of more thinking and action. It is discovery of the obvious, which is the hardest thing in the world to uncover.

Mr. Baruch, instead of blaming congress for the diminishing of federal expenditures, which he would reduce permanently to a figure somewhere below the two-billion dollar mark, places responsibility on that part of the population of which congress is a reflection, in miniature. It is the people—the taxpayers, themselves—who, variously, have run into with demands for service and have neglected to keep a proper account of their own affairs.

Consider the billion that Mr. Baruch says can be saved without the slightest injury to federal service. The largest single item is $400,000,000, to be saved by refusing to give federal money to any veteran or any dependent of a veteran who was not injured in actual service. Obviously, such a reform could be accomplished only by the sacrifices of numerous dependents to the soldier vote, and the cost of outraged public opinion. Still, it is one of the places where money could be saved.

Another $100,000,000 could be saved by scattered reforms in various departments, such as President Hoover has proposed. It is needless to point out that such reforms could not be made without adding to unemployment, which eliminates them automatically from further consideration.

A reform to stop multiplication of government, and Mr. Baruch, would save taxpayers approximately $400,000,000 in the war, navy, commerce and agriculture departments and the federal farm board.

Consider the proposed savings collectively or separately and it is easy to imagine the public howl and consequent pressure on congress that would block them.

In other words, the American people are unconscious victims of their own exaggerated ideas on the function of government. In congress, they see a reflection of themselves—not a pretty one. Frightened by what they believed at first to be something with which they had no direct connection, they have investigated and are discovering that they have been looking at their own folly. They demanded that the government do this thing and that thing for them, with little thought of the bill.

It is, Mencken, writing on this subject, recalls that the Bill of Rights was a recital of things forbidden in government. Of late, it has been the popular tendency to load government down with fantastic and costly duties—things that government is compelled to do. He suggests, therefore, a new Bill of Rights, a 20th amendment forbidding government to collect or spend a cent for functions outside those included in original conceptions of the nation. One wonders how much more of the harvest of their own folly taxpayers will have to reap before they are able to understand that when Uncle Sam spends he takes the money out of their pockets.

Hollywood Art.
Another high-priced star of the entertainment firmament has revolted against Hollywood management. George M. Cohan once more is completing a round trip from New York to the west coast, convinced that there is no place for him but the stage.
As in most of the cases which the public is allowed to hear about, Mr. Cohan finds it difficult to understand why he, a star in his own name and shining independently of the film colony's floodlights, should have to take orders, much less humiliating orders, from men he could buy up and send to Timbuctoo.
If he is felled, there is a good deal of mystery on all sides, as a matter of fact.

Why should the shrewd men who periodically enlist Mr. Cohan to Hollywood ruin their chances for a cleanup by rubbing his sensitive artistic feeling the wrong way? Surely, after having participated in more successes on the stage than any single Hollywood director can hope to have in a lifetime, Cohan should know what people like to see him do and how they like to see him do it.

He didn't go to Hollywood as a likely prospect, to be shaped by the direction of a director into another greater lover, villain, or comedian. He went as George M. Cohan—the George M. Cohan, himself.
Why, then, shouldn't he be permitted to act like himself?

Hollywood, no doubt, has its answers ready. But they aren't satisfactory to Mr. Cohan, who is too far away to hear them if they were. Presumably, the great potential audience has been cheated out of a treat by some one's unreasonableness. Sad to say, it gives every indication of being able to stand it—indifferently, if Hollywood and Mr. Cohan want to continue to disagree.

New Names.
Names which have been appearing in newspapers for years already have or are about to be crowded out by new and unfamiliar ones. In politics, as in all things else, depression has been a destroyer, marking many innocent lambs for slaughter.

Possibility of Democratic organization of the senate in December teeters on the dividing line, past which lies probability. Alignment of senators at adjournment was 48 Republicans, one Farmer-Labor; and 47 Democrats. The latter party is sure to pick up a member in Georgia; if it should win, also, in New Jersey and Colorado, it would be in a position to control the upper house and to take sole responsibility for organization of congress.

In the house, overturned completely in the last congressional election, there will be even more new faces when reorganization takes place next March, than there were on the last occasion. The casualty list has been rising so rapidly that few have been bothered to keep posted. Such well known names as those of John Q. Tilson, Willis C. Hawley, Carl R.
Chubbuck, Oliver Burnett and Royal C. Johnson will ring no more off the Washington sounding board.

Democratic organization in the senate would mean, of course, that names familiar for a generation would lose the committee connections which have made them by-words. The mighty Borah, viewed in godlike proportions by Europeans, would be only one of two senators from Idaho if he were to come to be chairman of the foreign relations committee.
Similarly, many another plains statesman who has climbed the ladder of seniority to the top rung would be set back at the bottom by Democratic organization. Strangely enough, the possibility that such a thing may happen is not nearly so unpleasant to consider as probably it should be.

Low Blood Pressure's Significance.
From time to time I have outlined for you the many causes of high blood pressure. Today I want to tell you something about "hypotension," or low blood pressure.
Perhaps too little attention has been given to this subject and possibly too much emphasis has been placed upon high blood pressure.

Low blood pressure is more prevalent than is commonly believed.
Since it is so often overlooked, the blood pressure varies in different individuals, depending upon age, sex and environment. The approximate pressure can be determined by adding a hundred to your age. A blood pressure of one hundred or less is considered low.

Low blood pressure is not a disease. It is regarded as a sign of some physical disorder and careful investigation should be made to find what it really is. Insurance companies do not reject applicants with low blood pressure, as they do if it is too high. Persons with low blood pressure are accepted if there is no damage to the heart, blood vessels, liver, kidneys or the general circulation.

Low pressure may be temporary or permanent. It is frequently seen in the temporary form after severe shock, operation, accident, or over-exhaustion. Low pressure may be found in certain acute diseases, especially typhoid fever. It is similar to a temporary condition in pneumonia, influenza, diphtheria and typhus fever.

Persistent low blood pressure is encountered in tuberculosis. Some authorities believe that the degree of hypotension, low blood pressure, is an index of the seriousness of the disease. It is regarded as a good sign when the blood pressure which has been low, increases or reaches normal.

Disturbances of the adrenal glands produce low blood pressure.
This is seen in "Addison's disease," a disease of those glands.

Low blood pressure may be caused by chronic inflammation of the tonsils, defects of the teeth, nasal sinus or gall bladder disease.
Contrary to a common belief that constipation is a frequent cause of high blood pressure, it is now believed to be more frequently en-

Daily Talk to Parents

BY ALICE JUDSON FEALE

CHILD MEETS TRAGEDY.
Four-year-old Donald's playmate became ill with diphtheria. Each day Donald listened to his mother's telephone conversations with the mother of his little friend.

Each day he asked anxiously:
"How much fever has Ella now?" And again, "Why doesn't the doctor hurry up and make her well?" Of his own accord he sent her gifts of candy and his best toy Indian and he included her regularly in his nightly prayers.

But Ella did not get well. She became more and more ill and at last died. At Donald's home very little was said, but the telephone conversations ceased and so did Donald's mention of his playmate.
From the day of the death forward casualty brought her name into his conversation. He sent no more gifts and he gave no sign of grief.

Only a month later when Ella's mother came to visit, Donald looked at her for a moment with wide distressed eyes and then ran without a word to his own mother, to hide his face in her lap and burst into tears.

Donald's suppression of the painful fact that his playmate had died was successful only until the sight of her mother reminded him of it irresistibly.

Even then he could not bring himself to accept what had happened, for he later went into his room to return with his hands full of toys. These he pressed into the lap of Ella's mother. "They're for Ella," he said and then he turned away to busy himself in play.

A child defends himself from tragic eventualities as best he can.
He does his best to suppress the realization from his conscious mind —a process which often looks like complete callousness to the adult.
When this can not quite succeed he often refuses more or less to admit the hard reality.

Highlights of Ohio History

AN UNUSUAL OBSERVER.

Vic Donahy was an unusual observer. A glance down the list of good men who have held the office suggests that he was an unusual executive chiefly for the reason that though he was an unswerving party man, he distinguished clearly between the party and the organization that happened at any time to represent it.
Attending to the wisdom of this course, politically as otherwise, is the fact that he was elected three times in succession.

When he was state auditor and questioned many of the bills that were presented to the state, he was charged with being picayune.
Even so, it was his lack of common honesty in the running of the state which, he carried into the entire matter, would result in the having of an enormous sum—not to speak of the benefit coming from establishment of a higher level of morality on the part of those sellout services or goods to the state.
Those who suffered loss by the auditor's blue pencil fumed and the "organizations" resolved vengeance, but the vote for "Vic" was always larger at the next election than before.

WOMEN—AND TROUSERS.
The sweetest consolation for the passing of summer is that one can say goodbye to pajamas. Or, to put it more accurately, to pants!
For years, I have envied men their freedom, perquisites and privileges—and above all, what I fondly thought were their comforts. Last two seasons of pajamas have cured me! And these little tight, woolen pants (so popular this past summer) have made me thank heaven I was cradled in a pink basinet.
Instead of in a blue one, and have not had to go all through life wearing these stuffy, silly-looking things.

Who invented trousers, anyway?
And why wasn't he boiled in oil or burned at the stake for putting this gyp's curse on men?

Women may dress frivolously and foolishly; but for everything give you a reason for wearing the way you wear it. It either to keep warm, keep her cool or make her beautiful. But, three-quarters of a man's garments are absolutely meaningless!

Take off a man's coat, for instance, and what do you see? A waistcoat that wrinkles over the most shirking front, and doesn't even come within kissing distance of his trousers in the back. Trousers that balloon about around his hips like twin foot-cups and are held on only by a belt and a leather belt. A shirt that bulges in a haphazard, temperamental way over the belt and crawls up to front, unless he is constantly holding his breath and tucking it in. Garments that seem to have no relation to the rest of the ensemble. And socks that seem just like after-thoughts!

The quickest way to get over a longing for anything is to try it!

Glimpses of the Past

TEN YEARS AGO.
It was Tuesday, Sept. 12, 1922.
An official bulletin from the White House reported that the crisis in the illness of Mrs. Warren G. Harding seemed to have passed and a surgical operation was deemed unnecessary.

Miss Mary Fennock of Lincoln avenue went to Delaware to enroll as a student at Ohio Wesleyan university.

Mrs. D. H. Lincoln and Miss Eva McCahey of East Center street returned from a lake trip and a visit with friends in Toledo and Detroit.

Mrs. Fred Bean, 30, former railroad agent of Marion, died at her home in Salamancas, N. E.

Mrs. Frank H. King, Mrs. D. H.
Harvey and Mrs. W. H. Hinkle were appointed a committee to represent the Marion County Federation of Women's clubs in arranging for a program to be given Oct.
17 with Mrs. Percy W. Pennington speaker.

ident.

The Cleveland Trinidad Fairs Co. was proceeding with the work had been questioned. City collector Fred W. Warner declared that he would stop the work the moment fall in his airplane when he was newest flyer to meet death in

CONFIDENT OF 31 CHAMPS and Shoemaker Do Flirting in Fraying.
The Presbies, who have won almost every championship by taking the fast-stepping K. P. nine last week, thus making the Industrial league championship the K. P. of the winning pathway, are today the city's favorite team. The Presbies are called for a game at the city park. The competition is keen, for the K. P. will win the city title if they win the game. Both teams will pack the park and write fans to the Presbies. The game will be a real test of the Presbies' ability to win the city title. MAJOR LEAGUES MAY BOTH END PENNANT DASHES THIS WEEK

Schedule Has 14 Days To Go, but Flags Almost Decided.

By The Associated Press
The major league finish line still is 14 days away but, with a little luck, both pennant races may be decided this week.

The New York Yankees are almost certain of clinching the American league flag within the next few days. They need only two victories to eliminate the sole remaining contenders, the Philadelphia Athletics and Washington Senators. In the National league, the Chicago Cubs are confronted with a sterner task. They need 10 victories to eliminate the Pittsburgh Pirates, or any combination of victories, which coupled with Pittsburgh defeats, totals ten.

The Cubs stretched their lead over the idle Pirates to six full games yesterday by trimming the Brooklyn Dodgers, 3-1, behind Guy Bush's eight-hit pitching. Gabby Hartnett's home run with Manager Charley Grimm on the paths, gave the Cubs their winning margin in the fourth inning.

The Boston Braves beat the Cincinnati Reds in both ends of a double header, 13-3 and 10-1, and drew to within a game and a half of the fourth place Phillies. Tom Zachary and Ben Cantwell pitched steady ball for the Braves and had the benefit of some high-powered hitting by Dutch Holland, Wally Berger and Raul Moore. The St. Louis Cardinals retained their hold on sixth place by beating the New York Giants, 3-2, in the second game of a double header after taking a 1-3 beating in the opener.

The Yankees made no progress in their margin to the American league flag for they were stopped by the Cleveland Indians, 6-4, Farrell, making his first appearance after a ten-day suspension, held the Yankees to eight hits.

Jimmie Fox's 32nd homer with one on the margin by which the Athletics beat the Detroit Tigers, 5-4. Washington made 11 23 victories in 27 games by tripping the Chicago White Sox twice, 2-1 and 8-1.

The St. Louis Browns, after breaking an eight-game losing streak in the first game, 7-1, dropped the second to the Boston Red Sox, 9-3.

Football in Front

The sports horizon is rapidly shifting. Whereas a couple of weeks ago baseball was paramount in the interest of almost every sports enthusiast, football has now assumed its position at the head of the list as far as fan interest is concerned. The world series has yet to be played of course but frosty mornings have a way of bringing up visions of brightly crested individuals lugging a pigskin around the greenward for dear old alma mater—and perhaps their tuition, if they're good enough at their job.

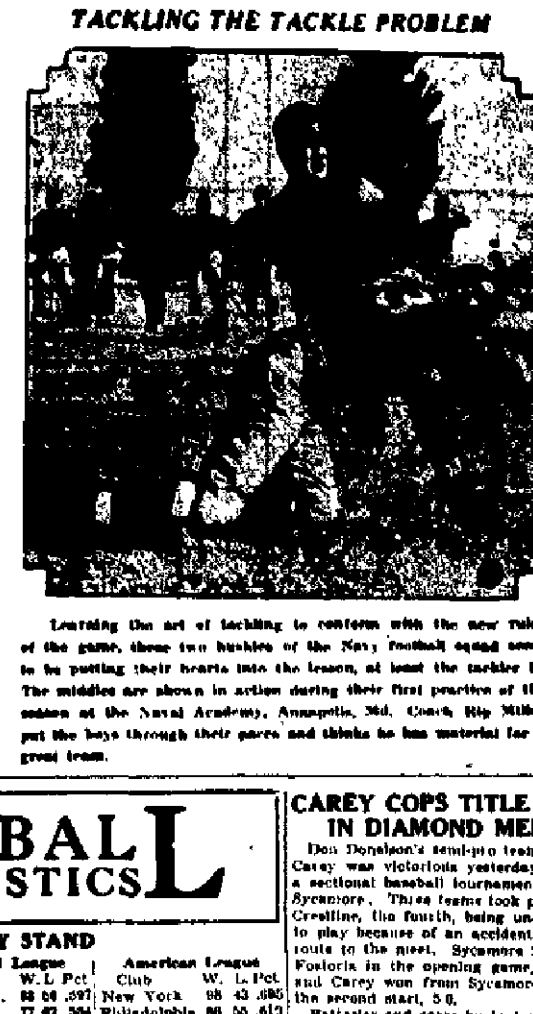

Most grid coaches have already issued their annual symphony in blue over the awful lack of material and the "suicide" schedule. Few are willing to look at things in a rosy light and most of them have the "no material" alibi ready in case the campaign does not get along so well. If the team goes through a good year, all well and good. If the season is pretty much of a fiasco—well, what can a coach do with no material? That's what I call using the old knob. After all, alibi alibi aren't figured out so easily on the spur of the moment.

HANAWALT CARDS 153 TO CAPTURE CROWN IN LINKS TOURNAY

Wine Marion County Amateur Golf Meet at Mar-O-Del Sunday.

Turning in a card of 133 for the 34 holes, Grant Hanawalt yesterday captured the Marion county amateur golf championship in a tournament played over the Mar-O-Del course. Hanawalt outdistanced a field of 17 competitors, some of the opposition being among the best of the Marion golfing fraternity. The champion's score was five better than his nearest opponent, Alva Newell, who turned in a 138. Hanawalt, by winning the tourney, gains possession of a permanent trophy presented by the Mar-O-Del. John Rife, a southern golfer, and Cliff Rowley, one of Marion's better club welders, carded 150 each to finish in a deadlock for third place. Others competing in the tournament were: K. M. Bower, Don Uhl, Walter McElroy, Carl Wiseman, Jack Wile, J. J. Kelly, Jr., B. H. Buell, Ross McGinnis, Charles Evans, W. J. Rowley, Roy Williams, Paul Kline and O. E. Bush.

LIMA GIRLS DEFEAT MANSFIELD COMBINE IN TITULAR BATTLE

Acce Drop 9-5 Contest as Opponents Hammer Out 11 Safeties.

The Berg camera shop girls of Lima boasted their claim to the central Ohio girls' softball championship yesterday afternoon at Lincoln park when they defeated the Mansfield Aces 9-5. The victory was the second in three starts for Lima over Mansfield. It was played at the Marion park as both teams insisted the third and deciding game of the series be played on neutral ground.

The game was well played, as girls games go, despite the fact that Mansfield committed five errors and Lima two. Most of the errors were made on unusually difficult chances as both teams clubbed the ball hard all the way. Lima displayed more ability to wield the mallet than the Mansfield club, rapping out 21 safe hits against a pair for the losers. Souderman, midget Lima catcher, connected for a three bagger and Harry, Mansfield rightfielder, turned in a double for the only extra base hit.

In a preliminary game the Junior Lunchees took a poorly played game from the Underwood Poultry team, 5-1. A total of 13 errors were made by the two teams.

Batteries and score by innings: Lima... 011 300 4-9 11 2 Mansfield... 000 000 0-4 2 5 Lima, Souderman and Souderman; Mansfield, M. Higgins and Litter. Underwood... 000 000 100-1 5 4 Junior... 000 100 002-6 6 6 Underwood, Kellogg and Thompson; Junior, Applegate and Conkle.

AVIS AND PLUMMER MAT HEADLINER easyweights Clash Here Tonight in Weekly Wrestling Exhibition.

With a pair of slam-bang heavyweights again occupying the spotlight after several weeks devoted to the most part to men of less midsize, "trawling" activity is in vogue to second a new periodic hit tonight at the Shovel gym, 100 Center street. Carl Davis and Johnny Plummer are slated to slug and haul over the two-hour unit route with two falls to win in the feature battle. Davis is making his first appearance here in several months while Plummer is a comparative newcomer to Marion.

Although Davis has not been here for sometime, he needs no advice as to his ability. He has battered many an opponent into submission here on several occasions and in each appearance he has been knocking 'em out in a big way in recent bouts and will give Davis all the odds of opposition. Both are big and tough and able to take lots of punishment.

In the semi-final bout Cliff Lauffman, brother of promoter Ed Kaufman, will team up with Carl-Harvey former U. S. naval aviator. They will go 45 minutes with two falls to win.

There will be the usual preliminary bouts.

AMERICAN AMATEUR GOLF TOURNEY OPENS

Quimet Defends Crown Against Brilliant Field at Baltimore Course.

By The Associated Press
BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 12.—Amateur golf's big six day marathon started over five days course here today with 100 challenges seeking qualifying positions for the United States championship.

Over this difficult 6,000 yard layout, where par 70 has never been bettered in competition, the first 15 holes of the 36 hole qualification test was played. The 22 low scores today and tomorrow will advance to Wednesday's match play rounds.

Francis Quimet, the defending champion of Boston, was back to defend his laurels.

Quimet is in good physical trim and ready for a week of grueling matches. Other well-advertised stars are Charles Seaver of Los Angeles, Maurice McCarthy of New York, Billy Howell of Richmond, Va., and Gus Moreland of Dallas, Tex.; Tony Torrance, captain of the British Walker cup team, and Cyril Tooley of England.

INDIANS DEFEATED

Caleidos of the Heart of Ohio league yesterday racked up an 11-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians on the Caleidos field. Huffman, pitching for the Indians, well-handled with a ball on his pitching arm pitched well until the eighth inning, then weakened and allowed nine runs to cross the plate in the last two frames. Huffman struck out eight men and Burgraff, nine.

Burgraff held the Indians well in check all the way. The vaunted heavy hitters of the Indians were silenced all afternoon, none of them doing any damage.

Score by innings and batteries: Indians... 000 100 10-2 8 2 Caleidos... 001 100 43-11 15 6 Indians, Huffman and Slagle. Pennant: Caleidos, V. Burgraff and W. Burgraff.

Gauthier Starts Task of Building Wesleyan Team

By The Associated Press
DELAWARE, O., Sept. 12.—Facing the hardest schedule in years, George Gauthier, dynamic football leader at Ohio Wesleyan university, will head one of the biggest squads he has ever had out for its first practice of the 1932 season today. Six regulars together with a trio of other lettermen will be included in the large group. Around this number Gauthier will build a team that faces Ohio State, Syracuse and its old rival, Wittenberg, on successive Saturdays.

Gauthier is banking to a great extent on sophomore material to fill the gaps. Ten or 12 other players who gained considerable experience last year while playing on either the varsity or reserve eleven, will be available.

One of the bright spots in Gauthier's existence is the return of Harry Barber of Buffalo, N. Y. Last year Barber was the unanimous choice of the coaches for all-Buckeye tackle.

Only 12 days are given Gauthier before he plays his opening game with Wilmington, on Oct. 2. The Bishop eleven then makes up against Ohio State and Syracuse. Wittenberg will be the guest here on Oct. 15.

PLEASANT CAPTURES RURAL CHAMPIONSHIP

Kirkpatrick Loses Final Rural Series Game Saturday; Score, 7-5.

Defeating Kirkpatrick Saturday afternoon at the Shovel athletic field, the Pleasant Trinity Lutheran Sunday school softball team, captured the Marion county diamond championship for 1932. The final score of the game was 7-5. A trio of home run willops, cranked out by P. Peters, R. Wipe and Burgraff, all of Pleasant, brought victory to Pleasant. Pleasant had only one bad inning, the fifth, in which four Kirkpatrick runs crossed the plate, but this setback was not enough to lose an early inning advantage.

Batteries and score by innings: Kirkpatrick... 000 000 1-3 7 3 Pleasant... 001 010 7-5 8 2 Kirkpatrick, Furness and Kelly; Pleasant, Burgraff and Burgraff.
